Dedicated to Promoting, Preserving, and Racing the Chrysler Name

The Prez Sez

By Rick Sorak

Fellow Mopar Faithful,

For the past couple weeks I've been consumed with choosing the parts I'm going to buy to build a new 'puter, so Mopars have been the last things on my mind....What a shift of gears to think about having to write something for this newsletter. (BTW I settled on a Gigabyte G35 MB with a Core2Duo E4500 CPU, 2 Gigs RAM and a 9600GT video card about $500 worth all together! Currently running the 2.2G CPU @ 3.0G and plan on more! I hot rod my 'puters too!)

My car related plans are to get hoppin on the long stale '70 Challenger project in my garage. The drivers side door was not fitting right and for the longest time I could not figure it out what the problem was. A couple months ago I took a new look at it and it dawned on me what the problem was. The rear door pillar on the rear qtr. was pushed in during the wreck I knew the car had had on that side. So I got out the bottle jack and a 4x4 and went to work pushin it back out. The door now fits like it should!!! Now that the door latch is in the right spot! Now all I need to do to finish this job is weld up the body seam I cut to allow it to move easier. Welding it back while stuff is in the right spot should make the final repair stronger too. Now this project can move forward to actually getting painted, hopefully later this spring/early summer.

I've been selling extra/unwanted parts on E-bay for the past couple months and have a very healthy paypal acct as a result....This money is the car parts fund for parts to get the above Challenger done. Starting auctions at 99 cents and letting the market decide what things are worth works better than I had expected. Many items sold for far more than I thought they were worth. I knew the set of NOS '71 Challenger headlight bezels would bring good $, but who would ever of thought that really ugly large aftermarket Challenger bumper guards that were NOS would sell for big bucks? Not me. I had 2 sets of these, 1 went for $400 and the other for $300....You couldn't have given them to me for free, if I had to pay shipping. So the lesson learned for all here is, if you have some extra stuff and don't wanna have a yard sale....E-bay it!

See ya at Ryans, April 1st.
Rick

MID-South Mopars

March 4th, 2008

Minutes

Last month our meeting was cancelled, due to a storm. March meeting was not much better with a very cold freezing Tuesday night. It had snowed earlier that day. President Rick Sorak called the meeting to order at 7:05, we were blessed with 26 members.

Mike McKenna gave his treasurer report and said there were 4 renewals. Remember March was the deadline for paying your dues and still receiving a newsletter.

Bobby Buffaloe gave a program on the new Challenger and gave away pictures of old and new Mopar pins.

Don talked about a Show and Shine the first Saturday in October (4th). There will not be a Mopar Car Show this year because we don't have enough members. We will support the Bill Heard Show and try to get all the Mopars together

Due to very little old business the meeting was adjourned at 7:45.
